FAVORITE HOSA MEMORY: Staying up all night memorizing our speeches, for the 2010 SLC. The state officer team consisted of me, Kevin A., Amanda G., and Sean S. Even though we were all tired we stayed up and tried to memorize and get all our work done. However, it seemed like we knew that those few nights that we spent with each other would be our last nights together as a team, and while we tried to memorize and work we also spent it as a family. I realized that we had passed the "storming" stage a while ago. These are all the things that I realized those nights:

1. Kevin and I communicate by him insulting me, then I say, "Rude!" and he tells me to be quiet.
2. Kevin and I communicate weirdly.
3. I'm going to miss my team, even though we fought, communicated weirdly, had fun, and finally learned how to live with each other.
4. The last year went by so quickly that I didn't even realize we were retiring already.
5. My memories will always be with me, but I just wish that we can all work together again one day.
6. Mrs. Dye and Mrs. Hunewill has helped me so much to just be me and speak up in front of crowds.
7. I really do act like a child, but it's just my heart being excited for me.

One final memory that is my favorite is when I got adhesive spray all over my left hand. One of the nights of NLC in TN my roomie sprayed adhesive on my hand because "I wanted to climb the walls like Spiderman." She did and it didn't work, but it did manage to stick to my face. After getting my hand off, I ran it under cold and hot water. Hmmm, that just made it worse, so I just bandaged my hand up with medical tape, yay more adhesive, so that I can go to sleep without it sticking to my face and just getting it fixed in the morning. Well little did I know that that medical tape would become like waxing strips to pull the adhesive spray off. When I went to bed my hand was sticky free with a touch of red and now has a baby soft feel.

HOBBIES: Reading fantasy and anything that sparks my interests. Playing restaurant city on facebook. Listening to music and playing my violin. Writing lyrics for songs. Hands on arts and crafts projects.

FUTURE GOALS: I'm going to graduate from UNR with a Bachelor's of Science and attend graduate school as a Biotechnology Major at an East Coast University. After, or during, graduate school I will work for a company, private or governmental, for agricultural research. I will try to develop a plant that will have properties that can clean our atmosphere to make the air clean and unpolluted with waste and chemicals. I plan to live a simple life with a small house or an apartment, if I am single. If I am, married, then I will have kids and live in a moderate size house in the suburbs, or living right next door to mother nature.

ACCOMPLISH AS A STATE OFFICER: I want to establish atleast one collegiate level HOSA. Therefore, one day the post-secondary level of HOSA will reach a point where they will need a post-secondary: secretary, president, 1st and 2nd vice presidents. My goal is to get the colleges in NV to recognize our wonderful chapters in the secondary level and would want them to continue at their HOSA in the post-secondary level.
